Description
The MCP buttons are great, however, I like to use them for running scripts. My current dilemma :- is that I have to create two buttons, one to RunScript and one to EndScript. I would like to see when you have a RunScript MCP button after it is clicked turn itself into a EndScript Button, so when it is clicked a second time that it will end the script that was just ran.

Having buttons that change get very complicated. Maybe on the next rewrite of OgreMCP, which I have no plans for at this time!
