Description

"(QUESTNAME) cannot be shared." - Quest Share should write these types of quests to a permanent file on the localhost to avoid sharing them in the future.

"(QUESTNAME) is not an available mission at this time" - Quest Share should write these types of quests to a temporary memory list and avoid sharing them during the current session.

Might I suggest you set a minimum level range of quest to share? There's no need to share all the level 1-100 quests in the journal with the rest of your group, if you're just doing instances. (Those are L105-108 quests). Very quickly got "journal full" messages from several of my group today . (3.00N)

That was due to a bug. It wasn't supposed to share all of those quests. It was only supposed to share the quests for your current zone.

Coming with Patch # 135:
