Description on my fury i have noticed for awhile now that ae's don't cast unless i manually cast them. Between setting #people on spell itself, changing number on setup for smart ae's and even trying IAE. nada nope, no combination would work. But last night i tried putting ignore duration and bam they started casting... so that is a solution for others unless they really want ignore durations .

Pretty sure this is specific to Furies, and likely specific to abilities that have Stormbringers Detonation attached to them. I'll have to look into it closer and see if I can reproduce, but I believe it's because they all share a proc on them.
