Description

When clicking on a crafting clipboard it pops up a window with the following context.

"The clipboard has several sheets of paper sorted by profession and 'work worder' or 'rush order' attached to it."

The above message has the option to either:

"Leave the clipboard alone."

or you can click the 'X' at the top right of the screen.

When you click the 'X' it crashes the client.

Just to clarify, this is without any scripts or anything. Just ISXEQ2 loaded and interacting with the clipboard window, right?

That is correct. It happens without any scripts loaded. On rush order clipboard and work order clipboard popup.

It happens when you X out of the window, not when selecting 'Leave alone' option.

This is fixed with the next build (0022)

This same bug would have occurred closing any kind of "replydialog" window.
