Description
I only saw this in Dominion, several times. It always affect my Warden, never the other toons. All the toons behave correctly at the beginning, but at one point, it seems always after a revive or an evac, the Warden has issue to follow the tank flying. It seems that something is pulling him back down when the tank is flying up. In the Console there is a lot of "OgreBotAtom aFlyDown" before the toon name. The toon is not on the ground but up very next to it. My guest is there at one point, the toon try to follow the tank going up but for some unknown reason it also try to go down. If I put the tank on the floor, the Warden will continue to broadcast the OgreBotAtom message but will eventually go next to the tank and stop broadcasting it. But there is now a "FALSE" message in loop in the console even if there is nothing special. It never happens on other toons. To solve that, I have to quit EQ2 and restart. It correct this behavior until some point when it happens again (usually after a revive or evac).

So.... this error message you're talking about.... care to copy/paste it? So we can narrow it down where it's coming from...

Hi Kannkor,

I only have 2 messages :

When my tank is going up, all toons follow except my warden. Lets say his name is "Healshit". Healshit is trying to go up and down so it stays a little above the earth but not as high as my toon. In the console, the only message I see (but I did not activate any debug) is :

```
"OgreBotAtom aFlyDown Healshit"

this message repeat itself over and over.

If I put my tank on the ground, at one point (wait 10 secs), Healshit will go down on earth and get close to my tank, which is normal. Now in the console I get this message :

```
"FALSE"

this message also repeat itseld over and over.

I do not have this behavior with any other toon. I got it several times only with Healshit and only in Dominion.

If I am the only one with this issue, I will try discarding my Warden profile and create a new one from scratch for Dominion.

Regards.
